

[Oct 1 2014, 10:55 PM] Nicole_Mirra: Hi, everyone!
[Oct 1 2014, 10:56 PM] gracer77: Hi all!
[Oct 1 2014, 10:56 PM] BronSt: Hi there from Aus
[Oct 1 2014, 10:57 PM] Nickitempero: Hi everyone, joining in from New Zealand
[Oct 1 2014, 10:58 PM] edinnovator: Hi, everyone!
[Oct 1 2014, 10:58 PM] Bob Jobin: Hi
[Oct 1 2014, 10:58 PM] Bob Jobin: Great to see some folks from all over here!
[Oct 1 2014, 10:59 PM] BronSt: globally interesting topic ;-)
[Oct 1 2014, 11:00 PM] K-Fai: Hello from Berkeley!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:00 PM] Seecantrill: Hello everyone! Logging in from Philly.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:00 PM] gracer77: I'll clarify - hello from NYC!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:00 PM] Seecantrill: Welcome New Zealand and Australia!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:01 PM] AndrewP260: Hello from Berkeley!

Hello!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:02 PM] Seecantrill: Hi Grace ... Hi Andrew!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:02 PM] Seecantrill: Looks like we are starting ... refresh your browser if needed.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:03 PM] edinnovator: Connected Educator Month:
<http://www.google.com/url?q=http%3A%2F%2Feducatorinnovator.org%2Fconnected-educator-month%2F&sa=D&sntz=1&usg=AFQjCNEzMtYzNpv5AKYJLZpUb52fqjKWSg>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:04 PM] Nicole_Mirra: Hi Christina! Hi Bob!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:04 PM] Nickitempero: New Zealand connected educator month - <http://connectededucator.org.nz/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:06 PM] Seecantrill: Hi chat room!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:07 PM] grammasheri: Hello! Great content tonight!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:07 PM] cbutts9980: Hello!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:07 PM] grammasheri: Are we supposed to be here or at the hangouts on air audience?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:08 PM] BronSt: should hear - reload the browser perhaps [Oct 1 2014, 11:08 PM] grammasheri: :)
[Oct 1 2014, 11:08 PM] BronSt: Agency and voice - good distinctions
[Oct 1 2014, 11:10 PM] Seecantrill: Would love to share stories of how we support student agency and voice here in the chat too ..
[Oct 1 2014, 11:10 PM] JudyArzt: So many teachers are still not using digital tools for students to compose & share. All we can do is encourage, but sometimes, it is a struggle.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:10 PM] Seecantrill: ... as well as share questions for the guests.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:11 PM] edinnovator: Digital Is: <http://digitalis.nwp.org/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:11 PM] grammasheri: I think most teachers do not have access to digital tools.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:11 PM] Seecantrill: JudyArzt wondering how we support voice and agency without digital tools too ...
[Oct 1 2014, 11:11 PM] cbutts9980: Still chewing on Paul's comments about how technology influences what it means to compose.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:12 PM] Seecantrill: ... because I think we know a lot about how to do this and we can support each other by connecting our thinking about this over time.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:13 PM] gracer77: We need teachers (and the standards makers) to remember that if students are given the opportunity to use and value their own voice, they WILL understand and recognize authors' voice. What Paul is saying right now!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:14 PM] grammasheri: without technology - using entry task for learning conversation, listening, collaboration:

<http://digitalis.nwp.org/site-blog/building-student-collaborative-practice-cel4/6192>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:14 PM] cbutts9980: Paul's making me think about how important principles of connected learning are as a means of developing digital literacy.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:15 PM] K-Fai: cool Paul - anti-fetishization of technology..

[Oct 1 2014, 11:15 PM] Seecantrill: I wanted to share a link to a diagram that describes connected learning principles because I think it helps us think about context rather than simply technology:

<http://educatorinnovator.org/why-connected-learning/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:16 PM] grammasheri: I've switched my questioning to student generated questions. Then they suggest possible audiences and ways to share so the content sharing is student driven [Oct 1 2014, 11:16 PM] kfasimpaur: I love that, Sheri.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:17 PM] Seecantrill: yes, Sheri, that's great. Would love to hear more.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:17 PM] AndrewP260: Based on what Paul's saying, here's an article that may be of interest to all of you

[Oct 1 2014, 11:17 PM] edinnovator: LRNG Innovation Challenge:

<http://educatorinnovator.org/lrng2014/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:17 PM] AndrewP260: It also adds a little more nuance

[Oct 1 2014, 11:17 PM] AndrewP260:

<http://blogs.kqed.org/mindshift/2012/07/blogging-is-the-new-persuasive-essay/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:17 PM] Nicole_Mirra: I like thinking about Connected Learning as being about connecting teachers, students, and ideas - digital tools can be powerful, but they are means to an end, not the end themselves.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:18 PM] gracer77: I agree about a means to an end and not an end in itself.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:19 PM] Seecantrill: Ah, thanks Andrew!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:20 PM] JudyArzt: During National Writing Project workshops, are others emphasizing digital tools?

[Oct 1 2014, 11:20 PM] gracer77: What a good point Elyse just made that there is voice and agency to be recognized and valued for the teachers as well as the students!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:20 PM] grammasheri: If you are a low performing school, you may be required to follow all those pacing guides, collect data, and focus more. So teachers do what they are comfortable with under that pressure.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:21 PM] BronSt: building a culture to value student voice and building individual student voice - is that a chicken and egg situation?

[Oct 1 2014, 11:21 PM] edinnovator: Dot Day:

<http://www.thedotclub.org/dotday/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:22 PM] gracer77: Thank you Kim for the phrase "adding to their repertoire"!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:22 PM] Seecantrill: Hi Judy. I think what Kim says is true among adults too - that we tend to connect as learners around new technologies.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:22 PM] grammasheri: Kim's response is what I see as real learning: learning with and from others

[Oct 1 2014, 11:23 PM] JudyArzt: Dot Day and Global Read Aloud are both excellent projects.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:23 PM] AndrewP260: ^ no problem, SeeCantril. BronSt, I wouldnt see it as a chicken and egg situation :) There are many ways to accomplish the aims at the same time

[Oct 1 2014, 11:23 PM] Seecantrill: International Dot Day:

<http://www.thedotclub.org/dotday/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:23 PM] kfasimpaur: Here's another fun design challenge that has been used with pre-school through adult executives:
<http://marshmallowchallenge.com/Welcome.html>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:23 PM] grammasheri: Yes, Dot Day, Global Read Aloud, and NaNoWriMo :)

[Oct 1 2014, 11:23 PM] Bob Jobin: "Learn from our efforts"

[Oct 1 2014, 11:24 PM] Seecantrill: I love the "ish"!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:24 PM] cbutts9980: Love Ish! Also stealing learning from efforts

[Oct 1 2014, 11:24 PM] gracer77: And it is the agency thing to see that even a dot is OK but let's take it further....

[Oct 1 2014, 11:24 PM] edinnovator: Ish: <http://www.amazon.com/Ish-Creatrilogy-Peter-H-Reynolds/dp/076362344X>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:24 PM] JudyArzt: Peter Reynolds is one of the authors featured for Global Reading Aloud: <http://www.globalreadaloud.com/p/books-for-2014.html>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:26 PM] Nicole_Mirra: Question: Sometimes young people are not used to teachers asking them to use their voices and share their interests - so they may be shy or reluctant at first. What are some ways you've scaffolded opportunities for student voice to make students more comfortable?

[Oct 1 2014, 11:26 PM] grammasheri: I worry that focusing on narrow objectives has prevented students from learning what they need to learn to inform their talents -- they miss connections that generate from more organic and project based learning

[Oct 1 2014, 11:26 PM] gracer77: "Building on" is an important concept to making and connected learning. But it is something some teachers and schools may need to be reminded of.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:26 PM] AndrewP260: Niclole_Mirra, - modified forms of think-pair-share have been useful

[Oct 1 2014, 11:26 PM] AndrewP260: in my classrooms

[Oct 1 2014, 11:26 PM] Paul Oh: Great question, Nicole. We'll post it in the hangout chat.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:27 PM] Nicole_Mirra: Hey, Paul! 2 presentations in one day - you're unstoppable!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:27 PM] JudyArzt: Helping students to develop a sense of audience beyond the walls of their school is powerful literacy experience. But also important for the classes to connect by replying to the blog posts.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:27 PM] MsColeSPMS: We fishbowl in my classroom and backchannel at the same time

[Oct 1 2014, 11:27 PM] K-Fai: yes - connected learning isn't just for youth

[Oct 1 2014, 11:27 PM] MsColeSPMS: Students can tap in and out of the conversation as they feel comfortable.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:27 PM] gracer77: Yes, Kim - understanding audience happens when YOU have an audience and understand it from that perspective.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:28 PM] grammasheri: connected learning builds learning new skills through authentic tasks

[Oct 1 2014, 11:29 PM] Paul Oh: I've heard Grant Faulkner, NaNo Executive Director, call NaNoWriMo the largest online writing community in the world

[Oct 1 2014, 11:29 PM] edinnovator: NaNoWriMo:<http://nanowrimo.org/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:29 PM] grammasheri: MsColeSPMS's idea of backchannel helps even shy people participate.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:29 PM] Seecantrill: MsColeSPMS would love to learn more about that ...

[Oct 1 2014, 11:30 PM] edinnovator: NaNoWriMo for students:
<http://ywp.nanowrimo.org/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:30 PM] MsColeSPMS: Of course! I've actually used it the last two days.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:30 PM] MsColeSPMS: Are you familiar with fishbowl convos?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:30 PM] AndrewP260: Yes!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:30 PM] grammasheri: Yes
[Oct 1 2014, 11:31 PM] kfasimpaur: As an adult, I love NaNoWriMo. I can't imagine having done it as a youth.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:31 PM] grammasheri: Whoa!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:31 PM] Paul Oh: Why is that, Karen?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:31 PM] Bob Jobin: 500 students in one school writing novels!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:31 PM] Seecantrill: I am familiar, yes. But others might want a little more description.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:31 PM] grammasheri: NaNoWriMo curriculum is aligned with CCSS too!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:32 PM] kfasimpaur: Paul, so powerful. Might have taken me in different directions much earlier.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:32 PM] Paul Oh: Got it, Karen.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:32 PM] AndrewP260: Where can one disseminate student writing to a public audience who will treat it respectfully? (I.e., a forum where unhelpful(rude) comments are monitored.)
[Oct 1 2014, 11:33 PM] Paul Oh: @Andrew - have you seen youthvoices.net?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:33 PM] AndrewP260: Ill check it out~
[Oct 1 2014, 11:33 PM] AndrewP260: Thanks Paul!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:34 PM] MsColeSPMS: Here is a great link to fishbowl <http://itcilo.wordpress.com/2009/02/16/facilitate-a-fishbowl-discussion/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:34 PM] Paul Oh: It's run by a number of National Writing Project teachers - including Karen here in this chat
[Oct 1 2014, 11:34 PM] Paul Oh: And Jo later will be discussing the platform in this webinar.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:34 PM] gracer77: I second the YouthVoices suggestion. Many ways for students to engage with their own voice and share the voices of others.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:34 PM] Seecantrill: Thanks Ms Cole ... wondering if you'd want to share what you are doing at digitalis.nwp.org too -- you could join and post a blog post about it there.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:34 PM] edinnovator: Developing Writing Confidence through NaNoWriMo: <http://educatorinnovator.org/developing-writing-confidence-through-nanowrimo/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:35 PM] MsColeSPMS: Absolutely! Would that be better than sharing here?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:35 PM] kfasimpaur: Andew and others, we'll be talking about YouthVoices on TTT tonight in 90 min. at <http://edtechtalk.com/ttt>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:35 PM] K-Fai: really cool that Laura jumped in on this. Engaging, as opposed to just facilitating, takes courage.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:35 PM] gracer77: Here is the link to Youth Voices: <http://youthvoices.net/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:35 PM] Paul Oh: Completely agree, K-Fai!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:36 PM] Paul Oh: Thanks, Grace, for sharing the link.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:36 PM] AndrewP260: This is awesome!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:36 PM] anna_phd: @Paul, is there an easy way to tweet from this platform?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:36 PM] grammasheri: Youth Voices has elementary and middle school areas too.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:36 PM] Paul Oh: Not that I'm aware of, Anna.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:37 PM] Seecantrill: This focus on the social aspect of making ... and this working alongside each other as writers/makers/teachers/learners is so powerful.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:37 PM] cbutts9980: That's a great suggestion for meaningful parental involvement in education

[Oct 1 2014, 11:38 PM] edinnovator: Not that we know of, Anna
[Oct 1 2014, 11:38 PM] teachmoore: NaNoWriMo just for writing fiction, or can kids choose other?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:39 PM] Paul Oh: I think it's up to you to decide, @teachmoore
[Oct 1 2014, 11:39 PM] anna_phd: Thanks, @edinnovator. I can keep doing it the old fashioned (circa months ago) way. :)
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] edinnovator: Laura's Edutopia series:
<http://www.edutopia.org/discussion/nanowrimo-eduawesome-project-your-bestyearever>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] AndrewP260: What platform was that speaker just talking about?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] AndrewP260: the previous speaker*
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] AndrewP260: sorry my internet is funky hahah
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] Paul Oh: @andrew - do you mean Laura Bradley?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] AndrewP260: yes
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] Paul Oh: She was mentioning blog posts about NaNo at Edutopia
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] AndrewP260: the one who is currently talking
[Oct 1 2014, 11:40 PM] grammasheri: <http://ywp.nanowrimo.org/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] Paul Oh: @Andrew:
<http://www.edutopia.org/discussion/nanowrimo-eduawesome-project-your-bestyearever>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] grammasheri: Could someone put her links in the chat? Thanks.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] Paul Oh: <http://laurabradley.me/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] edinnovator: Laura's Edutopia series:
<http://www.edutopia.org/discussion/nanowrimo-eduawesome-project-your-bestyearever>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] Paul Oh: Read your mind, Sheri :-)
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] grammasheri: Good to "see" you Paul!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] Paul Oh: <http://ywp.nanowrimo.org/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] Seecantrill: Also: <http://nanoteacher.weebly.com/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] Paul Oh: You too, Sheri!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:41 PM] edinnovator: <http://nanoteacher.weebly.com/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:42 PM] AndrewP260: Thanks Paul!
[Oct 1 2014, 11:42 PM] AndrewP260: Is this only for novels or could it be for poetry as well?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:43 PM] Seecantrill: youthvoices.net
[Oct 1 2014, 11:44 PM] JudyArzt: Appreciate the links others are adding to the chat window.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:44 PM] Paul Oh: @Andrew - Youth Voices? Yes, poetry is definitely welcome.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:45 PM] grammasheri: unofficial poetry : April:
<http://www.napowrimo.net/>
[Oct 1 2014, 11:45 PM] gracer77: There is so much on Youth Voices - both for students and for teachers.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:45 PM] JudyArzt: Is there a Google Community for NaNoWriMo?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:45 PM] Paul Oh: Agreed, Grace.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:45 PM] Paul Oh: @Judy - no, I don't believe there is. But there are local NaNo communities all over the country and world.
[Oct 1 2014, 11:45 PM] AndrewP260: are students able to publish poetry on that platform that makes work sellable on amazon?
[Oct 1 2014, 11:46 PM] AndrewP260: Sorry my previous question was unclear
[Oct 1 2014, 11:47 PM] gracer77: I think Youth Voices makes research clearly a process for students but also a personal endeavor worth pursuing.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:47 PM] Paul Oh: @Judy - you can find your region here: <http://nanowrimo.org/regions> Local regions often hold events, particularly during November

[Oct 1 2014, 11:47 PM] kfasimpaur: Judy, there are several G+ NaNoWrimo groups. Not sure if any are focused on youth, but you could look.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:48 PM] Paul Oh: @Andrew - i suppose if it's epic poetry, it would work for NaNo :-)

[Oct 1 2014, 11:48 PM] Paul Oh: Thanks @Karen for the clarification/correction

[Oct 1 2014, 11:49 PM] gracer77: I second the value of the process writing!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:49 PM] JudyArzt: Thanks, kfasimpaur

[Oct 1 2014, 11:49 PM] grammasheri: NaNoWriMo Forums -- connect with others here: <http://nanowrimo.org/forums>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:49 PM] cbutts9980: "Issue that burns you up inside" Nice

[Oct 1 2014, 11:50 PM] teachmoore: Have never really looked closely at YouthVoices (sadly); would love to share with my dual enrollment juniors/seniors.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:50 PM] gracer77: I love the idea of a research project that "burns you up inside"!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:50 PM] Seecantrill: The role of interest in connected learning is really interesting ... interests both personal and political.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:51 PM] kfasimpaur: If anyone would like more info on YouthVoices, feel free to email me at karen@k12opened.com

[Oct 1 2014, 11:51 PM] cbutts9980: Have to jet. Thank you!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:51 PM] grammasheri: I feel the same way that Jo is sharing; my students' world is opened -- and their understanding of others develops and vice versa.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:51 PM] Seecantrill: Thank you Chris!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:52 PM] grammasheri: Good to see you again Chris

[Oct 1 2014, 11:52 PM] Seecantrill: From voice to impact ... from one to another.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:52 PM] gracer77: Ah ha - sharing who they are as authors! What has been difficult and why I am struggling - creates bonds and agency in a connected community of learners.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:53 PM] Seecantrill: If you want to learn more about youthvoices.net tonight please join us on Teachers Teaching Teachers at 9pm ET/6pm PT:
<http://connectededucatormonth2014.sched.org/event/579ee3627e9ab8674c4d3f9c7aeb94c4#.VCx-mSldVV0>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:54 PM] edinnovator: 10/7 Hour of Code webinar: <http://educatorinnovator.org/webinars/bringing-the-hour-of-code-to-your-classroom-an-educator-innovator-webinar/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:54 PM] grammasheri: Jo is awesome sharing her ideas. And Kim is always offering a new "view" with which to focus our lens on the world!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:55 PM] edinnovator: <http://2014.mozillafestival.org/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:55 PM] grammasheri: Kim's blog: <http://thinkingthroughmylens.wordpress.com/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:55 PM] edinnovator: Make A Day: <http://www.google.com/url?q=http%3A%2F%2Fdigitalis.nwp.org%2Fsite-blog%2Fhappy-connected-educator-month%2F6191&sa=D&sntz=1&usq=AFQjCNEkSrd6kjHDueQRQekv7AWKetbHAg>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:56 PM] Bob Jobin: And, more Connected Educator Month activities from the NWP and Ed Innovator: <http://connectededucators.org/student-agency-student-voice-and-the-maker-movement/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:56 PM] edinnovator: @innovates_ed

[Oct 1 2014, 11:56 PM] Seecantrill: All you crazy CLMOOC-ers!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:57 PM] Seecantrill: (Just know you can be a CLMOOC too, at any moment ... here is Karen's post and invitation to make together: <http://digitalis.nwp.org/site-blog/happy-connected-educator-month/6191>)

[Oct 1 2014, 11:57 PM] AndrewP260: Is there a way to contact the presenters (and anyone else who wants to keep in touch)?

[Oct 1 2014, 11:57 PM] kfasimpaur: Andrew, are you on Twitter? (Most of us here are crazy on that. :)

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] grammasheri: Andrew: share your twitter handle

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] Seecantrill: Yes, Andrew ... Kim is online at @kd0602 and Laura at @lambradley ...

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] kfasimpaur: Also make sure to sign up for the Ed Innovator newsletter.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] AndrewP260: No, i dont have a twitter. :(

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] Seecantrill: Jo is weekly on Teachers Teaching Teachers at teachersteachingteachers.org each night at 9pm ET/6pm PT. There is a chat and also opportunities to join the hangout if you'd like.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] AndrewP260: not one i use haha

[Oct 1 2014, 11:58 PM] edinnovator: Andrew- Check back for the webinar archive, where we will also post presenter's online presences

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] kfasimpaur: Andrew :(indeed. You should give it a try.

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] AndrewP260: ill join the newsletter

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] gracer77: Connect and respond! Thank you Joanna!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] MsColeSPMS: I'm getting a site error from that link

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] AndrewP260: yeah, i need to make one

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] K-Fai: Lynda Barry's Writing the Unthinkable is a great way to engage reluctant writers as well...

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] Seecantrill: Kim also blogs at <http://thinkingthroughmylens.wordpress.com/>

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] gracer77: Laura - thank you for the voice of the learner!

[Oct 1 2014, 11:59 PM] Seecantrill: And Laura blogs here: <http://laurabradley.me/>

[Oct 2 2014, 12:00 AM] grammasheri: Yes! Kim!

[Oct 2 2014, 12:00 AM] Seecantrill: You can also connect with Jo at youthvoices.net

[Oct 2 2014, 12:00 AM] edinnovator: Which link is giving you an error, MsColeSPMS?

[Oct 2 2014, 12:00 AM] grammasheri: Thank you.

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] Seecantrill: Oops, take off the) ... <http://digitalis.nwp.org/site-blog/happy-connected-educator-month/6191>

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] MsColeSPMS: <http://digitalis.nwp.org/site-blog/happy-connected-educator-month/6191>)

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] Seecantrill: Karen's invitation to make a day: <http://digitalis.nwp.org/site-blog/happy-connected-educator-month/6191>

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] Seecantrill: :)

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] JudyArzt: Thanks for the webinar and links

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] Seecantrill: Thank you everyone!

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] MsColeSPMS: Still says site under maintenance

[Oct 2 2014, 12:01 AM] kfasimpaur: Thanks, everyone. Inspiring.

[Oct 2 2014, 12:02 AM] gracer77: Thank you Kim for reminding us that the student IS the learner we care about!

[Oct 2 2014, 12:02 AM] Paul Oh: Good night, everyone! Thanks for joining!

[Oct 2 2014, 12:02 AM] Paul Oh: Good to see you here, Grace!

[Oct 2 2014, 12:02 AM] AndrewP260: Thanks y'all! this was amazing

[Oct 2 2014, 12:03 AM] gracer77: Thank you all - those on the webinar and those in the chat. What an amazing community we are at the NWP!

[Oct 2 2014, 12:04 AM] edinnovator: Thanks, everyone!